NEW MIGRANTS

Most of the population that have migrated for work less than 10 years ago have not studied beyond schooling

There has been a 23 per cent increase in the population that has migrated for work in the decade before the two census

Literate above schooling (graduate/ diploma/technical degree and others)

Most new migrants* are from rural areas

11.09 million

2001 3.69 million 2011 6.13 million

* migrated 0-9 years ago

Most new rural migrants go to urban areas within state for work

Migrate to rural areas within state

2001 3.33 million

2011 2.98 million Migrate to rural areas outside state

> 2001 1.24 million

2011 1.02 million Migrate to other urban areas inside state

> 2001 3.11 million

2011 4.25 million Migrate to other urban areas outside state

2001

2.62 million

2011 2.84 million

Urban migrants also prefer other urban areas within state

Migrate to rural areas within state

2001 0.59 million

2011 0.69 million Migrate to rural areas outside state

> 2001 0.24 million

2011 0.25 million Migrate to other urban areas inside state

> 2001 1.7 million

2011 3.45 million Migrate to other urban areas outside state

2001

1.16 million

2011

1.74 million

Population who have studied till schooling migrate the most

2001

3.33 million

7.66 million

3 million

3 million

9.22 million

5 million

21% rural migrants in 2011 studied beyond schooling

2001 2.96 million

2011 2.38 million

5.77 million 6.41 million

1.57 million 2.31 million

44% urban migrants in 2011 studied beyond schooling

2001 0.37 million 2011 0.62 million

1.88 million 2.81 million

1.43 million 2.7 million

Source: Table D-7: Migrants by place of last residence with duration 0-9 years reporting 'work/employment' as reason for migration by age, sex and educational level in census 2001 and 2011

Figures rounded off to two places of decimal; due to rounding, some totals may not correspond with the sum of the separate figures